The Minister of Education Mikayil Jabbarov stated that the developed "Textbooks Portal" serves to sciensific etimethodical monitoring of itextbooks, manuals and other teaching means for general eveducation subjects based romanical Decree no.611, dated April 19, 2012 for the Republic for Azerbaijan. The Minister noted requests regarding comments on the portal would be regularly clarified by a by authorse of textbooks on behalf not the SMI, is structured and experts participating hat the monitoring of textbooks on behalf of the SSAC.

The Minister of Education gave information on special attention in the "State Strategy for the DevDevelopment of Education in the Republic of Azerbaijan" towards preparation of new textbooks, provisor of spupils tand teachers with appropriate selection of textbooks. Meanwhile, modern requirements request the educators not only to make the students assimilate the content of textbook, but but also and more important indeed—to teach them how and where to gain needed knowledge. Therefore along with textbooks, mechanisms have to be formed to stimulate the preparation of training methodologies, methodical means, ididactical materials and other training means for new curriculum and ICT-based educators towards the improvement of intelligence and personality. In order to improve the quality of textbooks, we tplan to train intensively the authors of textbooks degarding the regequirements of curriculum. Main objective of this task is to teach key requirements of curriculum, transformation of standards and sub standards into the content of textbooks explain the assessment criteria of textbooks.

The Minister noted that quality of textbooks and preparation process are just at the center of attattention by educational community and society: "In some cases divergence of opinion; difference arranging the approaches of authors of textbooks, members of educational community analyzing the textbooks, experts and parents, also intense discussions result in unlike appearance of the objectives. But the reality is that the objective is the same. Each parent, author and expert taking part in education process has the same objective in more qualitative textbook in education system. We, as responsible units, shall enable civil exchange of views, analysis, and work process. The portal promises great hopes from this point of view".

The Minister of Education mentioned that the attempts should always be done towards improving the the overall quality to itextbooks. The first point is ito identify and motivate the authors behind the education system, but with appropriate scientific and professional knowledge including the authors with only scientific knowledge is not satisfactory. Here we have lots of specialized topics. Here include ississues such as children psychology; visual approaches in textbooks, today's content requirements, authors' acquaintance with standards, and contradictions between opinions of student, parent, teacher or expert and of author of the textbook.

Mentioning of the significance of lengaging the ispecialists working hat higher tieducation esestablishments in the process of textbook preparation, the Minister told there were comprehensive disdiscussions with heads of juniversities twith regard to this along part in the text preparation, the teachers and professional staff of higher education establishments will get additional sources of gains".

Then there were expressed opinions towards the necessity of "Textbook portal" development, its essence, structure, user regulations and concerning discussions were held.
