

---

Representatives of The Ministry of Education, European Union and European Teaching Fund took part in the event. Namig Mammadov, department head of primary vocational education of The Ministry of Education stated that, as interactive process "Turin process", means support in formation of common development strategy through differentiation successes achieved as a result of the reforms held for last 20 years under separate countries at the same time, analyze policy implemented on the sphere of separate countries' vocational and teaching under the facts.

In addition, making a speech Rza Zulfugarzadeh, member of European Union's delegation to Azerbaijan, Franco Crestani, coordinator of European Education Fund on Azerbaijan and expert Yan Cumming, talked about importance of increase of attractiveness of vocational teaching and education system, enlargement of scope and provision of labor market with employee. It was noted that, it shouldn't be core function of only educational establishments and The Ministry of Education, participation of social partners is also important.

Workshop participants generalized his proposals on determination of current situation of vocational education and teaching, the problems and perspectives in the form of work groups and delivered them to workshop' organizers. In addition, workshop participants stressed importance of concrete collaboration models' development on the sphere of vocational education and teaching of interested parties. Workshop continued process under the groups.